StarBright Applied Behavior Analyst strives to treat young children with an Autism Spectrum Disorder diagnosis in the earliest years of life, in order to give every child we serve the chance to develop to his or her fullest potential.

For children with an Autism Spectrum Disorder diagnosis, StarBright ABA offers a comprehensive and intensive approach known as Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA). ABA focuses on increasing desired behaviors and reducing problematic behaviors through the use of reinforcement, shaping, prompting and other behavioral principles. StarBright's ABA therapy is highly individualized and developed to meet the specific needs of each child. We apply and incorporate in all our work the latest academic research and best clinical practice in the field of ABA.

Each program is designed and developed with your child in mind. Our Board Certified Behavior Analysts (BCBA) work directly with parents to assess and evaluate each child's needs. Should your child need specialized treatment, in areas that are not within our area of expertise, (i.e. sexual training, intense self injurious behavior) we will make every attempt to make the necessary referrals to other professionals or refer you back to your insurance provider for additional resources.
